Wipperzeit

Where your games begin

About Wipperzeit

The Basics

Wipperzeit is a community and a simple three step processfor gamers, developers, and story tellers to share seed stage game concepts with each other and the world. By embracing community input, participants can validate, refine and develop their ideas at the seed stage level before a single line of code is written.

Wipperzeit is different from Steam Greenlight or a Kickstarter campaign in that it allows developers to verify the marketability of a concept before spending weeks worth of time coding, sketching, and story-boarding. This low risk, high return approach allows even the layperson with no technical skills the opportunity to see a faint idea take shape, grow, and ultimately become a vibrant game with an engaged fan base.

The end result is a fleshed-out, crowd-approved portfolio of marketing materials that can be used to promote a crowd-funding campaign or shopped to publishers.

Get Started

Got a great idea or want to help grow an idea?

Create an account

Click here to get started